

The company

Selting+Baldermann GmbH is a business consulting firm with its headquarters near the world-famous cathedral of Cologne. Over the many years we have been in business, we have been able to give our clients the benefit of our unusual mix of legal, practical and business-related expertise.

The focus of our work is advising and supporting our clients in applying practical solutions to their daily business. In order to help you attain your goals, we also offer you the assistance of experienced interim managers and expert strategists. Thanks to our successful track record, we are often called upon by the courts to act as official receivers or liquidators.

Our consulting covers more than just solving problems in your daily operations; we offer you numerous other business services as well, such as planning and implementing growth strategies, acquiring investors for financing or restructuring, as well as selling or foreclosing the assets of companies in liquidation.

Take a look at our spectrum of services and our professional references before taking us at our word! We would be more than happy to schedule a personal meeting.
